

Doctors and the BOTTLE

Some personal accounts of DOCTORS RECOVERING FROM ALCOHOLISM

DOCTORS AND THE BOTTLE CONTENTS SPRING 1983 pag	e
British Doctors' Group - THE FIRST FIVE YEARS
	125345
Doctors with a Drinking Problem N.N.Glatt The Lancet January 1975	6
I am an alcoholic Gareth Lloyd B.N.J. 18 September 1982	7
Doctor who heat a drinking problem S.China Morning Post (Hong Kong) 28 December 1982	8
It's a sickness, Doctor, isn't it? N.N.Glatt General Practioner 20 Pebruary 1981	9
New light at the end of a bottle Philip Goodrich Doctor Sept. 1981	10
Battle against the bottle anon General Practioner Feb. 1981	11
Pull out all those props anon On Call Dec. 1979	12
Daze of wine & roses Leslie Watkins Pulse Dec. 1978	12
When the drinking had to stop anon Pulse Sept. 1978	14
Docs on the Rocks R.Gibbon Sunday Sun 12 Nov. 1978	15
When a doctor has a drinking problem Vivien Choo Medical News 29 April 1976	16
Hitting the bottle J.Charles General Practioner 2 Nov. 1979	17
Brit, Dectors' Group - Visit to the U.S.A. Brit, Jr. on Alcoholism 1977	18
Doctor in AA S.H. Share (AA)	18
Brit, Doctors' Group - Recent Activities	19

THE BRITISH DOCTORS' GROUP - founded 1975.

THE FIRST FIVE YEARS

AIMS:

The primary aim of the Doctors' Groups is to help recovering alcoholic doctors and dentists to sustain their own sobriety and to help others to achieve sobriety.

With this help available we hope that doctors and dentists will be encouraged to seek help at an early stage in their illness.

HISTORT:

The London Group started in a small way in 1973 when two general practitioners began to meet regularly to discuss problems in their recovery from alcoholism. Some months later a few known recovering alcoholic doctors were invited to join the Group and, rather to the surprise of the founder members, these newcomers continued to attend regularly. We also discovered that doctors were willing to travel long distances, some from the north of England, to attend these Saturday evening meetings. This early experience showed that not only was there a need for the London group, but also for regional groups. Throughout the next years the group gradually grew and in 1977 dental surgeons, who appeared to have much in counon with the doctors in recovery, were invited to attend. A Family Group for the relations and friends of alcoholics was also started. Now, rarely does a month go by without two or more enquiries being made either by a drinking doctor, his spouse or professional partner. In fact, in the past five years we have had over 200 contacts in Great Britain and Eire. It has become possible to establish regular meetings not only in London but also in the North-East, the South-West England and in Ireland.

THE GROUP

The London Group meets in a central London Hotel on the last Saturday of each month. The meeting lasts three hours and is followed by an informal meal. At the meeting there is a freeflowing discussion with an emphasis on personal problems in recovery some of which may have a special relevance to our particular professional problems, but sometimes special topics may be selected for discussion.

We would emphasize that our meetings are in no way abstract scientific discussions about alcoholism, and in some respects we have found that our scientific knowledge can constitute a handicap in our recovery.

CONTACTS:

Although the group is limited to helping alcoholic doctors and dentists and the meetings are private and confidential we do extend invitations to our non-alcoholic medical colleagues who have a special interest in the field of alcoholism. This has also helped to establish good limison with Directors of Alcoholic Treatment Centres both in the N.H.S. and the private sector so that newcomers requiring more intensive and sometimes urgent treatment may be given guidance on how and where to seek appropriate help.

Whilst we are an independent group without affiliation to any other organisation we do not consider one monthly meeting is sufficient to maintain sobriety, particularly during the early stages of recovery, so we do encourage the newcomer to become involved with the Fellowship of Alcoholics Anonymous, as this often holds out the best hope of sustained recovery.

We are always ready to take a new member to his or her first meeting and it is gratifying that in England there are now more doctors in A.A. than at any time in its history - many having been introduced by the Doctors' Group. Most of our members use the A.A. Pellowship as well as the Doctors' Group but a few prefer to attend Day Centres such as *Accept, hospital outpatients and hospital reunion meetings.

The contacts made at the Doctors' meetings and Family meetings have resulted in new friendships and a good deal of valuable informal communication takes place between the monthly meetings. It has been our experience that alcoholics recover and remain sober as a result of the 'Group Experience' and those who try to recover on their own sconer or later relapse or become dependant on mood-changing drugs. At the present time long term use of Valium and sometimes Heminevrim seem to be particular hazards to recovery, but any mood-changing drug or sedative may be potentially dangerous for the alcoholic.

THE FAMILY ORCUP:

We have also found that the spouses and families are in need of much help and support so that in London and in the North-East regular Family meetings have been established. These meet monthly at the same time as the Doctors' meetings in adjacent rooms. It has been found that when attempts at helping the drinking doctor have apparently failed, if the spouse begins to attend the meetings very often the partner eventually joins the group. Like their partners in A.A., some of the spouses also become involved in the Al-Anon Fellowship (for the families of alcoholics), and this also gives helpful support.

Unfortunately, a high percentage of doctors' marriages have failed before the doctors come to treatment, but in recovery sometimes reconciliation is possible.

(Alcoholism Community Centre for Education, Prevention and Treatment)

GROUP FINANCE:

The Group is self-supporting, and income is from contributions collected at the meetings, and from an annual appeal to members.

THE GENERAL MEDICAL COUNCIL:

In cases where the General Nedical Council have instigated proceedings against alcoholic doctors we have given evidence before the Council on the members efforts (or otherwise) in recovery and they obviously view favourably the doctor who is known to be abstiment and who is attending the Doctors' Group and/or A.A. meetings.

We have also established a useful lisison with the Medical Defence Union and the Medical Protection Society.

U.S.A. GROUPS:

We have established valuable contacts withsimilar groups in the U.S.A. - in particular with International Doctors in A.A. (Est. 1949) which now has a membership of over 2,000, and the North New Jersey Medical and Professional Group which has an annual four-day convention in Morristown, New Jersey. The latter has been attended by members of our group in the past four years, and some members have also visited several alcoholic treatment centres in New York and New Jersey and attended courses on alcoholism for physicians.

The interchange of visits between U.S.A. and our group has undoubtedly helped to consolidate and enhance our progress here. We look forward to further visits knowing that the resulting exchange of ideas and information is always of great benefit to the group, as well as being helpful in maintaining individual sobriety.

Total abstinence:

We noted that all the alcoholic centres visited in the States emphasized the importance of total abstinence, and A.A. as the most effective after-care service.

The National Council on Alcoholism (U.S.A.), with the advice and guidance of the American Medical Association on Alcoholism has strongly reminded those interested in alcoholism that abstinence remains the prime goal of therapy.

Like our colleagues in the U.S.A. we are firmly committed to total abstinence, i.e. abstimence from alcohol and all mood-changing drugs, also believing that this must be the primary goal for treatment. In our experience those who use our group together with A.A. (or other supporting groups) maintain good sobriety with a high degree of success. As a group we have yet to learn of a single case of a successful return to 'controlled' drinking. All such attempts have sooner or later ended in failure. Sadly, some of our members have died in the terminal phases of chronic alcoholism still believing they could 'control' their drinking, and four have committed suicide.

ANNUAL MEETINGS IN ENGLAND:

For the past three years we have held successful annual conventions near London, in Durham and the Lake District. We hope that in the not too distant future London may be the venue for a meeting of International Doctors in A.A.

OTHER LINKS

Dr. Max Glatt, who is an honorary member of the group has been untiring in his efforts to help and has given us much valuable publicity through his articles and lectures. The Nedical Council on Alcoholism has been of great help in advertising the existence of the group and in referring new members to us. Our close lisison with Alcoholics Anonymous has been valuable in introducing new contacts and it is encouraging to note that more doctors are contacting A.A. in their initial endeavours to seek help. We advertise in the Personal column of 'Pulse' and 'General Practitioner and we have given interviews to the National Press and medical journalists. The resulting articles have been helpful in attracting new members.

When we hear of an alcoholic doctor who is in need of help or who is in hospital we can usually arrange for a meeting or a visit by a member. This initial contact by a professional colleague who has had similar experiences and who is seen to be recovering may give the sick doctor the encouragement and hope that he needs to begin his own recovery.

Treatment Centres

In a recent survey of the results of treatment of doctors in a N.H.S. Alcohol and Drug Dependency Centre over a period of 10 years, 66% of the doctors have achieved sobriety and are working in their full professional capacity.

We have recently issued a questionnaire to our members in the hope of obtaining more information about alcoholic doctors and their recovery. A preliminary study shows that 805 of the doctors who sought help needed hospital treatment initially. Of these, 57% entered Alcoholic Treatment and Rehabilitation Centres.

CONCLUSION:

We hope the presence of recovering doctors throughout the country will help the general public to know that alcoholism is a treatable illness with a good rate of recovery, thus reducing the 'stigma' of alcoholism. One alcoholic on meeting a recovering alcoholic doctor for the first time exclaimed, 'At least I feel that I have a respectable illness now!'

This educational work has been helped by some of our members who have been invited to talk to special groups such as medical students, hospital staff, schools and A.A. public meetings.

It is also hoped that as the existence of the Doctors' Groups throughout the country becomes better known it will be easier for the still drinking or drug addicted doctor to seek help from recovering alcoholic colleagues who are in full empathy, who are non-judgemental and who can offer the right guidance for recovery. In this way we hope that doctors will be able to seek help at an early stage in their illness and that no longer will we see the tragic situations which are still all too common today.

Useful Contacts:

The Medical Council on Alcohlism 5 Grosvenor Crescent, London SWIX. Tel: 01-235 4182.

The North-East Council on Alcoholism National Council on Alcoholism Kea House, Ellison Place, Newcastle-on-Tyne, NEL SIS

The Irish Council on Alcoholism 19-20 Fleet Street, Dublin 2. Tel: Dublin 774649.

'Accept'

Western Hospital, Seagrave Road, London, S.V.6. Tel: 01-381 3155

Alcoholics Anonymous

General Service Office 11 Redcliffe Gardens,London SW10 986 Tel: 01-352 9779 London Region Telephone Service 7 Noreton Street, London SW1F 2VP Tel: 01-834 8202

Extract from THE LANCET, January 25, 1975.

DOCTORS WITH A DRINKING PROBLEM

SIR. - Froblem drinking among doctors - an issue raised in your columns - in our experience constitutes an occupational hazard. Its frequency among doctors certainly speaks little for the education of medical undergraduates in what should often be a The likelihood that there must be at preventable condition. present many doctors with alcoholism who do not present themselves for treatment is the more regrettable, since in our experience such doctors, with adequate treatment, often do very well. "2 Noreover, recovered doctors can often be of the greatest assistance to other alcoholics. Corresponding to the complaint frequently heard from alcoholics - though probably often unjustified - that their doctor seems to care little for the sufferers from this condition, alcoholic doctors themselves sometimes complain that their non-alcoholic partners do not understand this problem. 05 the other hand, it is only fair to report that not only wives of alcoholic medical men but also general prastitioners with an alcoholic partner often ask in desperation how they can motivate their alcoholic husband or colleague to present himself for treatment. For some reason or other, alcoholic doctors often apparently shy away from asking a doctor for help and from attending Alcoholics Anonymous meetings - though many alcoholic doctors participate closely and successfully in A.A.

6

Under the circumstances, it is very promising that a number of recovered alcoholic doctors have lately formed a group who meet once a month in London, and who are expanding their membership. Not unexpectedly, some alcoholic doctors find it easier to attend these meetings than ordinary Alcoholics Anonymous meetings. in the knowledge that all those attending it are professional men who had, or still have, to face similar problems. There is, thus no fear of others sitting in judgement or talking down to the newcomer, who can but receive very helpful, constructive advice and support from colleagues who, because of their own experiences, are in full supathy. Those doctors who started this group also continue to attend meetings of A.A. and encourage newcomers to join it, and the group is in touch with the "International Doctors in A.A." body (founded in 1949). However, though obviously not in competition with, or a substitute for, A.A., the group is quite independent. Many doctors concerned about their drinking problem should find this doctors' group extremely helpful. Any doctor with a drinking problem who is interested is invited to write to the undersigned (obviously in the strictest confidence). and he will be put in touch immediately with a member of the group.

St. Bernards Hospital Southall, Niddlesex. M.N. GLATT

 Glatt, H.N. Lancet 1974, 11, 342.
Glatt, H.N. A Guide to Addiction and its Treatment: Drugs, Society and Man. Lancaster, 1974.

Personal Paper

I am an alcoholic GARE

I am a doctor and an alcoholise. Today I feel no more shares for the one than for the other. Being by choice a dector increased my risk of alcoholium and becoming, without intent, an alcoholic hampered my practice of medicine. Even new 1 dissociate with difficulty the ethical domands of medicine and an illness that dares to speak its same. Yet, the reas are separate. It is not recommy to be a doctor to become an alcoholic, and elcuhalium is not everypist to the practice of medicine. My experience may help others to understand how, in a part of one man's lifetime, medicine and alcoholium became intenningled.

An abstancest, Weldt, Presbyterian upbringing kept me away from alcohol through adolescence. Even at medical school alsohol held no attraction for me. The drankets werkend astics of fellow analouts were incomprehensible to me. I just could net understand the point of getting drank.

Abourd the moopship Assurias, bound for Korva at the age of 25, my relationship with alcohol suddenly and intermediably changed. Fellow officers of the RAMC introduced me to the velvet magic of rum with Coca Cola. The magic carse, not from the trate or the scent or the texture but from the effect—a relaxing, uninhibiting, magic glow. In that moment the ingrained childhood distront of alcohol evaporated.

At the conset I cume to know that I could drink large amounts of sloohol without becoming drunk or tick. I could drink with apparent impunity and proceeded to do to frequently and carelendy. But, so did those around mr. Officers and gentlemen, we drank together and cursed the arony. Drinking alcohol became a daily routine; before lonch, before dinner, with dinner, and at evening parties in both Kores and Hong Kong. Perhaps I death more than others. If I did, no one noticed or if they did, no one tail to.

Two years later I had become dependent on alcohol but did not know it. In this short time the manpallising effect of alcohol had unconsciously become a Pavlovian reflex. It was neither deliberated nor recognized. A sequence of workalcohol-orboxetion became an acceptable result over which I gradually lost control.

Returning to civilian practice and a career in obsection and grossocology, I began to find additional reasons for drinking. Many of these were attached to work. The working hours as senior house officer and registers were long and ardroson. Studying for higher examinations descanded entra effort. The competition for ports in 1960 was fleror. The ladder of progress being long, marrow, and sparsely ranged. A sense of explositation and low pay induced reientment. All these were excases to drick—good enough and real excess at the time. Just the same, they were only excuses which supplemented an established dependence. Most of any colleagues accepted the difficulties without resort to alcohol. For me the reflex was already too strong.

Within a few years minor symptoms of withdrawal—morning shaltes, early availating, and mild dependent—senarged to confound the problem. I began to drink also held for symptomatic relief and to drink earlier in the day. No one around the second to notice, or if they did ps, nothing was said to me.

Dasly intske of alcohol gradually increased and with this came mere symptoms, a worsening overdraft, and a lots of interest in my chosen specialty. Each clinic or operating sension because an increasing burden to desertal into a demanding drinking pattern. That I was able to present a semblance of normality in a tribute toalcoholic canalag or a condemantion of my colleagees' terms of observation. Drinking new made me drunk and amornic, but these excesses were always at home and consequently uncombing, retching lather of savest, craving for the sloubof I had carefully hidden. Sometimes I would forget the hiding place and become termified af warsening symptoms of withdrowal.

The more common daily rivial included an incomment and carefully tituated feed of alcohol, coupled with many mine ar erogh swrets. Some work suffered, particularly record-keeping and letter writing. The more tedious work became neglected. By some miracle of effort 1 maintained good clinical standards and obtained an MRCOG.

Manifester MAN 625

GAREFH LLOYD, ser, press, growal processes

Seeking belp

This increasingly unmanageable way of living continued usual, at the age of 32 and overawed by a worsening overdraft, I become tick of being sick and sought help. Forminately there was help. Doctors and fellow alcoholics, willing to accept alcoholism as an illness, othered my distense.

ALE 1502

GARETH LLOYD.

Immediate physical recovery is rapid. Profiles ancountrolled sweating and disabling trentor step. Agronning anxiety and the threat of definian trement secondy. Appetite and rational thinking tensors, Quickly I became convinced that I no longer had a problem. Now that the soundabout had slowed, surely I could climb on again and deink annihity. I wind, I failed.

A newly established alsoholism treatment unit accepted we. There I learns about alcoholism, about me, about group therapp, and about Alcoholism Asserymous. The consultant psychiatrist in charge, a stern, aless brishman, helped me to recognise the consequences of my illness, consequences that affected must aspects of my life---an illness that would remain with me for life, ever threatening to erupt with increased ferority.

On the whole I was not displemed. Alcoholism had deals with me kindly. I had committed no crime. I still had a family and a job. My liver seemed undaraged and mp nervous system intact. Suicide had not occurred to me nor had I become unduly depended. Perhaps this is not surprising as I had been drinking alcuhol for only seven years and comprisively for only three. I had, however, become ill enough to stap and understand enough to stap away from slophol.

The Gousp-a cuphernism for a banch of uncomparativing atopholic fellow patients-showed me myself as other people sos me. I was not amound. For a few days I hoted myself, but the hardest hitters were also the most encouraging and I griedwilly recognised the many attractive bits of me. Between these, the psychiatrist, the Group, and AA showed me a vision of life free of alcohol which sected worth pursuing.

Mennal recovery was painfully slow. It was two years before memory fully remented and radiual chiefding approached assimility. Being financially troubled and disrochanted with haspital practice I changed to general practice, a decision I have never regretted.

Afterwards

For nice years I worked and played hard and enjoyed the branties of successful practice and family life. Self-rendidence summed and became ambition. When a university post was affered I had enough confidence in my sobriety to believe that I could do asything safely. I was wreng.

The nature of the post innvinced me that I must conceal say alsoluble bistory. I stopped attending meetings of AA and cut my other connections with alcoholics except as a therapist. The emposabilities of students: medicine and my attisade towords them generated a destructive scregorics and golds which I failed to control. These were hoppy moments, non. Moments of achievements and strong friendubility.

Within two years, and 11 years after 1 had support drinking. I mok another drink of alcohol, a single gluss of ware. It was offered to me by a colleogue on a transatlancic flight when I no longer wanted to be as alcoholic let slove be known to be use. All roy defensors were dready destroyed and with their gluss of some mp hard come subscery was but. Though 1 secretly know the damper, one gluss of wine was sufficient to canoringe our that I could "get away with it."

For 18 reaction 1 did, drinking a linter alcohol excassionally without apparent heres. Gradually the effort model to maintain cornal received. My life agein became protocopied with drinking—phassing, areitipating, concealing, craving. An occasional drink became a doily liable.

Complete loss of centrol came abcopty. A relaxing evening abialty became a tra-day basit of constant drinking. Dry after day I pound bottle after bottle into myself. At the end of this bost, of which I remember little, I was admitted to hospital and might otherwise have died.

Many have ailed me why this happened, hast I lisse so answer. There was no previoultr utrust, no spond reason encept that I are an alcoholic. This is the casence of my zioshofeses. It defess exploration and is difficult for a proval mon to accept. The frustration of failure, the hamiliation of despair only increased an irrational impulse to find a way to drink safely. I tried again and again, each nime more disastrously than before. Doriog the next three years I was admitted to hospital over 15 times but always well away from home.

BRITIN MUDICAL JOURNAL WOLLING 285 18 territorics 1982

25

Protecting my jub became an obsission for me and my thresplats. There were pleasy of warnings and threats, but many prophy, including psychiatrists and family, enabled me to maintain the chorade of denial and conceilment. My standards of medical care undoubtedly dissinished. Fortunately, no one stade formal complisient.

All the things I had previously avoided-delitium tremews, amerupted suicide, liver damage, neuropathy, police problems, loss of family affection, and loss of job happened to me. The university was clearly concurned to perserve its good mana. Colleagues became, by earn, confused, angry, supportive, encouraging, frustrated, and ultimately glad to see me go. A few edjected me totally, a few ternalent caring and helpful. Most just wanted to get an with their own lives without the intrusive axisance which I had become. Eventually I retired as graciously as my last shreds of pride would allow.

An experienced psychiausist took charge of me, an accompromising therapist near to my home whom I had avoided for fear that contact would affect my job. Again the triad of psychiatrist, the Group, and Alcoholics Anorymeus rescued me. Added to this was the influence of the British Doctors and Densites Group. Today I know very many alcoholics. A 100 and more are doctors. We know and understand one another like no other group of people. Mutual support and understanding provide relief that medicines cannot give.

There is an increasing storngth and purpose in the three years of my subriety that matches the doupsir I once knew to well. So far as possible arsends have been made. My family is happy, and I am content with the work I do. My life is more complete and selaced than it has ever been. Yer, I am still an alcoholic. One careless glass of wine is all it takes to brieg back the horrors. of the past, and worse. That drink, the fast, is the only one ever which I have control, Alcoholism is a frustrating illurus. The cause defea detection, Three is no known medicinal-care. The meatment-shitinence -on easily said but an frastratingly difficult to sustain, is but ans solution. A solution that can be made to work and in relignst to work again. Amid the tarbulence of alcoholism there is sharm and gulk and remove and rejection. Surely the time has some ta speak more freely of the illuess that dare not speak its narot.

drinking problem octor who beat a musicements to work late at eight, it's considered security and the security SOUTH CHINA MORNING POST

When the hand on your pulse is trembling ..

By DREMDAN GULLIFER

He was a successful Hongkong doctor, a bushand, a father and a respected member of the community. Ha was also an alcoholic.

He tot in Trimehamai pillos station has one eight alter four years ago, his life in turners and his 30-year endical untered on the edge of suis

It was a Tuesday, and a long lunch had been speed with Friends or a local hourd

He had been note to the office in the allestoon, but while exchanging strong words with a furniture abop swear in the storests of Readmon later that day, the police attand.

He had already appeared in court sace for effestive related to drinking. In 1977, if was alleged that he assaulted the reamager of a local club after driving his day round the issuer of a termin

The charges wave deepped, no consistion was seconded but the message was clear. The star hod a drinking problem. A recorrect effort to reduce his intake of alcohol was arminipotential of

And in Jonary 1919, after allegedly assessing a prior officer, the doctor again found himself shore, in police eventorly and druck.

"I remember sitting in Taimshettai policy station, still amashed out of oxy mind about midhight, thisking, 'Gol, what's going to keppen now?," he recalled. "I thought, 'Hell, I've done it a socied time." "I'd hit suck bottom. I'd been caught twice.

"I was uphybod all over the papers for two or three works on two important occosions.

"My family west through all that exchartacom

"Every time I got us a bus, I used to think, 'Oh God, have they send the paper this morning? Are they thisking there's that Mondy drunk again? Why doesn't someone lock him an?

"I realized it was cither the house or my job.

"Any time I over thought of having a drink - which I den't new --- I just throught back to that "I ment what's the point? I studied for right years to be a factor. Why thrus it away just for a bords of plock? And since that incident plantst four years ago, the doctor has recommindly remained solver. A momber of Alexhelics Anonymous and the British Medical Council on Alcoholism, he must contave to a strict unde of animacuity.

But it is no saires that Dr Prize (an allocd once had a Sopelete deleasing problem. Many of his friends and associates know this.

And his story highlights the nightenate world of norm that 2,000 sizedone declars in the United Kingdons and an asticized 50 potential alcoholic decrors in Horpkusig.

As one doctor said, alcohol and the modical professi in 24 hand-in-houd

"R pors with the job," he said

"Defortunately, respect bler 'Fm anarosciend' and 'I have long bours' are used as preiffections for drashing. There are meetings, evening functions, gatherings and

It's a frightening picture doctors who sig out of to level meetings to secretly swig from a hip flash ... GPs who rarely take advenues appointenent because every weaklay funch is a long one .. specializes who are a danger to their perious, because they are soo drunk to do their job.

But according to Dr Peter, it may be an according portrayal of some areas of molicine in Blonghung. Besed on UK utations and his dwa observations, he estimated there could be at least 50 potential alcoholic bottors -- or alcohol absaurs, as he stalls them -- in Hospiting.

Dr Peter said he did not want to rile the hand medical protocion by hexading it double-sidden. He and his extenses stay he conservation.

But in my own pacentiate sincle Channel of something like Ht-distant who aright need bulg.

"And there are only two doctors in the whole of Horgkneg who are regular A.A. attenders."

And that, according in the doctor --- who has practiced ndiane here for 20 stors --- is cause for concern

Dr Peter said three was possibly a send for an alcoholic doctors' group in Hangkong, similar to those now established in major constrict pround the world.

One of the first is balleved to have been the Assaysian haved Deternational Doctors in AA, established in 1946.

In Londos a similar group began in a small way in 1973, of plate two passes plate availabilities forecast out and a discuss problems in their revencey from alcoholism.

Some months fater a few known encovering alouts doctors ware invited to join the group and rather to the surprise of the founding monthess, these newcomors continund to attend regularly

As the word spread, other doctors began neverling hing distances to attend mentiogs. In 1977, dontal surgames were welgowed tone their cases, Similar goodys now most in northeast and smellowest England, Fire and bolinad. Members are also anissuraged to access bould AA ment-

Maga

Staggoringly, there are now more doctors attending AA in England than at any other time, according to a neodutter regularly issued by the British Doctors' Group. As Dr Pyter asked: "Why should Hongkong, especially with its well known drinking scene, be seine ne?

But while statistics aren't available, some feel the averlical arctor may have a high incidence of alcoholivita, everyared to other white-collar profusions.

English doctor Max Glast, who published an metalened study into alcoholism, to essaies and efforts nariar this year, mid a four of failure and insdequacy in she face of discust could crosse doctors to drink.

This, caupled with the heavy responsibilities of the job, on intellectual elition and an "it won't happen to me" attitude can taxy sheet inco alcobalics.

Local condic Dr Peter agreed.

"It goes back to the days when out is a student," he said. "I think medical students do work possibly horder than any other students, because they have to cover as evails March 19

Dr Peter spent four years in the Royal Navy where, he red, his drinking started and deceloped into commuterity heavy boore oralism.

At 23, he began to study medicine.

"As georyone known, medical insidents are expected to drivek a list of beer and play rugby.

"Ehat combination docum't help-

"In the face of study and enam pressures, mulical modern find self-treatment with alcohol works very minute fally, appose we felt we were better off with it, in ease the anniaty and the tension."

As an intern, numerous gaint hours on canualty waiting for needest various and other patients to be admirted were usually spent "on call" at the pub across the read.

Two years as a luxary passenger ship's doctor followed for Dr Peter, with the inevitable funchtime drinking, sight-time parties and almost limitless supply of duty-free lague. "I was getting fairly high at dinner, then I realised I was getting higher and higher on icos and loss."

Several months working as a locum in England proceded his arrival in Hongkung to settle in 1967.

"I should have realised a long time ago that I might have become an alcoholic, but when I was a medical analess, we ware out taught very much about alcohol.

"Of course, standards of teaching have improved, but I recently took three medical students from England visiting here to an AA mosting.

They'd never heat to one and reckoned they issreed. more about psychiatry in that one AA meeting than they learne in 10 lestures.

"But they had autoally had because on alcohol."

Dr Peter said his drivling problem wavared and attempts to stop proved furthe, although he successfully give up drinking for one menth every year from 1973 to 1977.

"My wife once said-to the "You're an Mosholic and you coulds't stop drinking even if you bried.

"So I gave it up for the whole of one month in May and I Sale as much better that I thought I would do it once a year.

SOUTH CHINA MORNING PUST "But I thought, Tr's reducations for do it in Mary because it

It days. Lat's make it February which has only 28. "So every year, I used to give it up for February, Csourse, on March I I'd be back on it sprint.

"I was sever violent at home, but, according to toutildeen, I was very boil tempered.

"I wouldn't help them with their homework. That's its use thing I really regret ... about 10 missing years of my kids

"I can remember them when they were shout six, seven as eight whidly. And I can remember them since I've been jobsbut there serves to be a gap of about six or eight sears.

"I wish I could have those years again and perilaps have them with their home work and he close to them.

"I'm possily alone to both of them now, but perhaps I anona have been shower.

Dr Peter knows that one slip, one drink, avail put him right buck on the rollationater again.

At the same time, he knows because he is an alcoholic. sober for four years now, he is in a sample position to fulgamments with dricking problems.

A springers from the Monghour Medical Association mainly composed of Chinese discours, denied there was drinking problem among Hongking motical professionals

"As to the figure of 50 potential absholio doctors here. don't know how this sould be operfuded," the spekramor said.

"I doubt if that whald be the case."

Bet Dr Glatt, in Ergland, perhaps best same up the "dooon the rocks" situation

In an article in the British Ductors' Group's regular newslatter, he wrote surfar this year; "The likelihood that there must be at ground many doctors with alcoholism who do not present themalves for creatment is representing, since in our approvence such doctors, with adaptate belations: phan do yory well.

It's a sickness, doctor, ism't it? General The scourge of many doctors - alcohol - often starts as heavy ritual drinking at medical school. Dr Max Glatt shows how a social habit, if it's Practitioner allowed to get out of control, can become a dangerous disease.

GP 110000 ARY 29, 1981

Medicine, it has been said, in a high-risk occupation for alcobolism, so that the popular definition of an alcoholic being a person who drinks more than his doctor would explain why so many cases of alcoholium remain underpresed.

It has also been said that 'the doctor will remain the cornerstone in the (alcoholism) therapeutic (and rehabilitation) process antil other services " in spite of the fact enter rox that alcoholiam is a multifactorial illness requiring the col-Inducation of many professional disciplines and voluntary ergunications.

Certify, medical men should play a teading sole in helping the ever intreasing numbers of alcoholics. And the fact that, on the whole, the medical profession has remained disinterested in this important socio-medical condition, and that so many doctors. themselves fail social to what is, or should be, a largely preventable condition, is reflected by the insdequacy of andergraduate teaching.

In contrast to the interest in the problem of drug addiction arrong doctors, surprisingly Htic attention has been paid to nleoholism, although, for many decades the Registrar General's occupational mortality statistics have consistently shown relatively high-standard mortality tates (SMR) for liver einbenis arrong doctors.

The latest publication gave a SMR of 325 per cent, the previous one (1961) of 350 per cent, with doctors' wives having double the cirrhosis martality rate as the average population. Such mortality figures probably underestimate doctors' mintality from liver circhosis.

A number of recent studies have indicated the sustaince of alecholism among doctors in this country and in North America. Dectors born in Scotland and Ireland seem relatively more velserable to alcoholism than their English colleagues; and, as serving the rest of the alcoholic population. tion are affected main often. thiss womant.

In discussions with alcoholic doctors over the past 30 years. factors such as overwork, entetional and marital problems are usually given as important corrtributory reasons for their heavy drinking.

However, with a condition such as stepholism it is smally very difficult to disentangle cause and effect. Personality and environmental factors are offen involved in dynamic interaction, both in causing the condition and in maintaining it.

In a recent review of chatactermitics and prognosis of alcoholic doctors treated in the Maubley-Sethlem Hospital, South London, Sir Robin Murray, whose article is on the previous page, found a high proportion of psychiattic and personality disorders in their pre-alcoholic history; not sarprisingly, therefore, his followup showed a poor propositi-

Such Endings vary greatly from our own experience with alcoholic doctors seen since the fifties in the out- and inputiont departments of the alcoholic units at Warlingham Park, Surrey, and St Bernued's Hospital, London, and elsewhere, and also among the members of the British (alsoholis) Doctors' Group.

Some of these doctors reported to have felt a high degraat. of anxiety - possibly moss than some of their colle aguesin their (pre-alcoholic) student days. In general, however, their personality make-up had shown little difference to that of other doctors.

As a rule, these doctors had found it very hard to accept. agreed to treatment only ander great pressare from wives, partners and other colleagues.

However, once they had started treatmost, they cooperated well and actively. often proving to be a great issue in assisting their non-medical alcoholic fellow patients

However, alcoholic doctory seen at the Maushley cannot by regarded as representative of alcoholic doctors in general as it is by no means only the more insdepaste or enotionally unstable medical man who falls victire to alcoholism.

Worry, anxiety, excessive emotional and physical dumands, frustration, a high load of responsibility, etc. are daily companions of the doctor.

Under such circumstances it. may cause little surprise if to many doctors, in order b) obtain some relaxation in the evening after a hard-day's work. fall back on the alcoholic comforter.

Over the past 30 years, the proportion of doctor patients among the total of east alcoholic patients has consistently averaged between two to ever those per cent. Apart from the doctors seen, there are frequent enquiries from worrigh wrocs and pariners of how alcoholtheir sloubalic problem and concluded page 19

DOCTOR, Thursday, September 24, 1981 Jobless, friendless, addicted to amphetamines and alcohol, Dr Philip Goodrich found hope in the depths of his despair

10

I AM an alcoholic, a doctor, I live in New Zealand and I are English.

None of these things is importunt unless I concede the first point without fear - because there lies the source of my arranged to combust what is, after all, a facul disease.

For many years I was ashared of my drinking sapacity.

It was because of this that dering the Korean War I was satected from 40 other RAF medical officers to fill un etclusive pouring in Hong Kong. where algohot abuse had become a problem.

Arousal qualities An MD was needed who could hold by liquity. I was admirably sailed for this job; and I did it 4.43

General priorice in England distanted that I should put aside this sort of self-indulgent habit. Having already experienced the beady arrival qualities of amphetaminas, I continued to feed my chervical adductive tendencies by their exclusive and and so hid, as I shought, my second bable.

And so bepar the incidents porsess of self-defusion, belligeness denial, increasing tolerance and bizarre behaviour that go to make up the propresare, persiciples, distant of physiolium.

It is said that the addict is the has person to recognize his illpero. But such is the stigma proximati with slopholism that relatives are quick to find ancanes, and collinagues prefer to ional presidents indicating a sagne psychiaeric dinorder rather an submit the stephe truth.

Muttering to myself

I became very conscious that something was wrong. I had a fla in a patient's house during the sing I was trying to denos sound. And even while still an rabless - which I ultimately surrendered to for fear of the pain and emborrassesess of withdrawal -- 1 would constitute art an insight intin my prochonic wate.

I started to repeat myself in company. I would stand back and motion to myseld: "Why am I saying that again?

Eventually, of course, the mours spreed that I was bookad an pills. People avoided me, colleagues doubted my validity. my family became depressed and reventful.

New light at the end of a bottle

When it became obvious I was issoing prescriptions for my own use, even drug firm represensatises mied to distruct me by suggesting I buy drugs in bulk.

Terrible craving

I was always going to "quit insnovow" --- and that was dear-By what I wanted to do.

But I was caught in a trap. Fear mounted as I was forced into making a choice between my home, my wife and my career on the one hand and emotional pain and the consequences of withdrawal on the other.

At shat time I knew no way of combating the terrible cruving I suffered every day.

Various clinics encouraged nee to 'pull up my socks," 'behave like a pencieman and a doctor" and other pointiess epishets. But to one served to understand that I could no more control my abnormal reaction to mond-storing chemicals shan a diaberic can control the presence of sugar in his print.

Many things were tried: changing me ever to tranquillisers; placing me in grief groups to mork dut my depression; aneparaging me to drink property - and make learner bein; and finally diagnosing depression.

I was remayed from the scene for a long time.

Chance of recovery

Despairing that I would ever function normally again, I decided to journey 14,000 miles to New Zesland. 8 hoped that a drastic change of scene might give me the hope I needed to mart again, free of pills.

Bot I was simply taking my diaganie with your, and by an doing I was confirming my dependence on panide influences.

I failed to reorganize that any chance of recovery must came from within.

The whole merry portound warted up again with even more WHENTROOM COMINGINERY culminating in my removal from both the New Zealand and General Medical Council PERMITS.

Everybody, is seemed, had despaired of me; my instation was complete.

Solcide looked the only way in state

And yet it was at this point in a locked cell in Christeharch, that ing receivery began.

Rewarding. employment

I came face to face with what I was, 2 had to accept the reality of my problem. I four my arrogance and found humility.

From this point things began to improve. I found a menial job, where I mes a fellow sufferer who issueduced me to Alcoholics Antoinette.

They saught me to live one day at a time, soth propress never perfection, and he glad to be slice.

Things will get better they said. And they did, and they arill do. Today I don't have to drink or take pills and can handle most problems with reasonable exec-

I have been fully resound to both medical registers, have a rewarding job in medicine, and have necessly been half-way round the world on a happy holiday with my family.

But I never miss my mornings. and I never forget that I am our drink or pill away from the same chanic mixery.

DOCTORS' HEALTH/5

OPPERENANY IS, 1981

This ex-alcoholic doctor explains how he elambered up the difficult path to recovery and when he came to realise what misery he had caused those around him.

As 1 start to write it is late Sanday alternoon and my stife is propping up our threemonth-old son between cubices on the setter. He is unable as yet to control his postare and musculature. And I am asked to write about my experience as a sick, alcoholic doctor!

Five years ago his father would have experienced equal difficulty at this time in the evening in managing his mascles, and his utterances were often as animtelligible. I know, for my friends left a tape recorder live in this room on many recessions to chasten muin any more sober moments.

Sconewhere in late 1972 my wife, solution about my drinking, enade contact — through a friend — with Calke, a Catholic organisation that helps people with alcohol problems. I attended two or those meetingand the disector animged an appointment with one specialist is alcoholian in the Sorth East. Which here no fruit because of my whitt, and sought my admission to Benley Hospital Detaxification Unit.

Eventained dry for the month of my admission and then had a large girs at Victoria station on my way home. I started to attend AA meetings sporadcally, and Lamable to recall that then my constation would wan and wate from meeting to receiling that I suffered from an alcoholic diness.

Whisky and black-out

At the end at 1973 my pertners dissolved the partmentity and for two years it managed to cope with a reral produce with the minimal orver mended to earn a group practice allowance. During the period my control over alcohol gradually slipped and telerance failed.

In Fabruary 1976, after one whisky (a double -- I checked), I blacked out and drove gently letts a car outside an isotated int. They tail mis I seversed off the bumper and drove hence Truly, when the police actived and breathalysed me in the drawing room. I remember experiencing relief. Ethick they had a wrangle as to whether to arrest me. They did. The subsequent night is nothing. I cannot retain a glenener of giving blood.

11

The problem that night was that I was on call, and the police had to notify my collesgues. They in their turn contained the FPC refusing to cover any of my daties. Fortune unifed weyly on me. Dr Glatt accepted me as a voluntary patient in St Bernards Alcoholic Unit. We apparently had a mutual segutientance within the Westminister Archebiocean hierarthy who pleaded my case.

The FPC level weight to the proceedings by ordinating that I could not work until a subject colleague had certified that I was again fit. Three months later I was discharged, and allowed to take up my practice in two weeks.

Seven-day binges

Precisely 357 days later — for no reason that 1 con even manufacture — I drank a sherry. Over the vest four meeths I plonged from seems days of seven day binges. I could not drink beyond the seven days without complete prostration. I walked back into St Biemards day and very meads sober. That was in July 1977. As of today, I continue to sprover.

From this longwinded yet: very potted history several points busicensideration. Ibad no inkling that I had progressed to the lass all control state of alcoholic abuse. During the years 1972-1977 any wile (and my sister on one occasion) left the home with my two poong shildren.

This was in my solviety 1 larve seen, the continual wavering down effect of an alcoholic on the average of three in the family. And the children were only babins, the effect on them wortied their mether. Their father did not provisive her frat, jet it was actively through her efforts and later those of a thoughtful Montigestr that I was given the time in St Bernards to begin my recovery.

The profession, as today, were loath to move in general practice and the administrators insisted they must wait until a actions complaint was lodged with them. In Novumber 19771 was accused by the FPC of 'ahardoning my practice'.

This arose out of my arrest and subsequent administration to St Bernards. For despite my best, efforts, 1 could not obtain a locare within the 10 days during administration — neither could my brother or my sole.

So there was a gap and in effect, through extensibly paid group practice allowance, I was deemed to be single-handed. Much was made by rey protection society about this seeming ambivulant reading of the red brock. I was admonished.

Eventually Learner before, the GMC is Newember 1978 as a result of charges of abuse of alcohol logged in the practice (1) over seven years, together with my disgunification for striving with encess of alcohol (just, I had only one double whichly that evening but my blood alcohol was near 400mg/ 100ml). Another facts of the alaess known as topping sp?

Two things stand out in my mind about that affair. The sad part was disprorving eventually that my staff and potients had bren interviewed by a shrath from London -- and I had had no internation of the events. Even my staff had been sworn to silence. Profsably the pain was much worse because I was working well and continuedly and had wen back sty practice list from the dependances which had happened when rumous was rife thereby my Respital admission in 1976. Not noted my very friendly local phurmacks was approached and sought my exploration with

I aware of an investigation.

The happy part was the actual hearing. The moreory of courtway, sympathy and understanding of my illness will easily confound all resentments that I might have hurboured into the fature. I was goilty of the abuse of alcohol in my professional life, say in my whole bite, and so the Consenttee roled, but as I was recovering additaking steps to keep well. I was allowed to continue is practice.

The administrator of my FPC and its ministers were compasionate and milightened as well. I was under contract to them and was adjusted to hospital each time for trautment, and supplied with all necessary cortificates and locum oncoratranged when possible.

A burden to the FPC

It is with hieldsight that I realise that for a period of five years I was an added expense and unrotuble employee of that practicioner committee.

Facally 1 strust advertise, Without realising ward later my recovery started with AA.

During my first admission in 51 Bornards I had a vieltor, another alcoholic doctor and a loander stonber of the Doctors and Dantists' Recovers Groups. Only these in my local AA groups and at the monthly servings of the Doctors' Geoup know of the Joseptical sophestry exhibited in my reparateris.

There are no a gumeration on Acceptance of my sleenholear is a daily routine and bring relative lifedition recented by life during the day. Laminew a 'wice chairman' and envelope addresser in the Doctors' Group.

As for AA ob/that is easer. I started a group in my own practice, and now we all anprove duity and particularly on a Wednesday. With a degree of realism, life does became need eventually and life one do not need a dwirk today.

12 LETTER TO 'ON CALL' (Guildford) from the Chairman of the DECEMBER 1979 DOCTORS' GHOUP for SOUTH WEST ENGLAND

Sober fact — pull out all those prop

Sir, The letters on doctors' meanal health sON CALL, Nevember 11) prompt me to write and emphasise the fact shat alcoholism, (syn. alcohol problem), which is but a part of the condition of chemical dependency, is a fatal condition causing suffering and localiness to the drinker and those near to bires.

Deception, lowering self extern and destruction of career, family etc., are part of the condition, as is the fact that when he or she is sober and well, they make hardworking pleasant colleagues.

The inner fact causes colleagues to cover up and act as 'enablers' invovad of 'pulling the props away' and making the drinker face the fact that he or she weeks noncollosive help, and eannot euit alorst.

You are killing your eefleagues by covering up for (Denin)

If they reluse treatmer , then disciplinary or off r appropriate measures should he taken, so as to face them with reality.

From the moment that 1 drank at the age of 21 until 3 stopped seven years ago, aged 42, alcohol and tranquillisers and antidependents "helped" me to live is fantasy and behave in a way which lowered by selfesseen over the years.

I blamed my depressions on family, job, etc., etc., nather than on my atticude to riburn.

The emotions of fear, arger and ministered wave some of those that strubled me most. I was convinced that I was "special" and needed and was entitled to the relief of sloobol and pills. which were, in fact, the main cause of my lowering selfestores.

Death would have been a happy release.

Since meting the fellowship of Alcohelics Anonymous and also the Doctors' Group (in the UK) which is not affidiated to AA. all this has charged.

I have not had to drink or take mood altering drugs for seven years, have many root friends and am slowly rebuilding my life following a period of sick leave and group therapy in hospital.

I wish that I had marted seener before I became so damaged and duringed those around me.

Persons worvied about a colleague or themselves, should consult the Medical Council en Alcoholism, 3, Grossenor Crescent, London, SWIX IEE, (Tak OT 235 41825, in complete confidence, for advice and, if required, the addresses of connacts and meetings of the Doctors' Group in many parts of the country, where esperience will be shared and the perion left to make their own decisions.

There are hundreds of an in the medical profession in this country, happy and deady recovering appriher, instead of dying almost. Yours etc.,

A recovering alcoholie , doctor.(Nates and Address Supplied).

FORUM

DOCTORS' HEALTH

PULSE, DECEMBER 2, 1978

petted as an aye-surgeon and, just as he was about. to start a catarast operation, he and to his assistant: 'You've watched me often enough so now I'm going to give you the chance to do it all on your diam'r.

His voice was calm, almost casual, but he was fervently praying that no-one in the theatry would goess the truth: his hands, despite his struggler to control them, were shaking because of drink.

For years Dr W, new in his sarly lifties, had known that hewas an alcoholic - just as throsamls of other medical men practising in Britain today are alcoholics - but his profesalocal pride, and his terror of really socepling the truth, had stopped him seeking the help hit so prprnfly needed.

He had managed to kney working by bulancing his delaks, by topping-up just enough to ward off the tremory at vital moments. But that day, two years and, he 'not his desept wrong." That was when he hit his sleeholic rock-bottom - and walked out of the operating theirs to beg for help.

Now he is sober. And he is con of a growing group of alco- about alcoholion as a discase onces and groupdu, is a nearby

Doctors Group, launched five years ago, estimates that there are about 2,000 alcoholics practising today. An average meeting is attended by 25 doctors. By Leslie Watkins.

holic doctors, from most parts that the majority of doctors still of the country, who meet edge refere to recognize it - in their a month in London to help themselves, and each other, by discussing their shared prob-Louis.

Doctors' Geoux, This. launched exactly five years ago, is not part of Alcoholics Anonymous but has helped to encourage many medical men and women into joining that fdi-Investige.

One of the founder membors, Dr S, says: 'Nearly 200 alcohohe doctors have made contact the special value of these with an since we started and about 80 per cent laave intended meetings. But, andorturnately, this is just the tip of the lotherg. It has been conservarively estimated that there are early stages of recovery, they more than 2,000 alcoholic dottors practising in this country. today. The number who are abusing themselves with drink attended by about 25 doctors, ne drugs - and thus often angains eauging in upe from the midpolling their pullents of rick as well as their stateers and, in from as far away as Sordand. deed, they even lives - is eer- South bring their spouses who tainly far higher.

puttents or in themselves. For years my own arrogance - an arregance which is shared by to many in the profession stopped my admitting that I was a drenk who was helpires over alcohol. And as for Alcoholics Atonymous - well, surely I know more than a bunch of laymen."

That final comment, epitomining the utilitude of many drinking doutors, emphasizes monthly monthlys. Medical people are able to talk more feerly about their problems with their peers and, what is particularly important to many in the can forget any fear of their "gails" being made publics.

The average meeting is pseulics to the 70%, who travel bold their even moting, at "There is so much ignorance which they share their experi- I started to amod this group

Dr L is 61 and recently became a local-government health official after a long carett as a GP, He told me: 'For a long time I thought I was morely a heavy drinker, 12 have been furieses if anyone had had the damned check to tell see I was an alcoholic. How could I possibly by an alcoho-507

'I was still working. I was will successful. But I didn't reabse at that time how hard yosple around mit, people like my wife, were working to pover opfor me - or what a men 2 was making of their loss and my own. Eventually, in theory mamones of sanity, is started gatting through to nin that 1 was proving basise. I became confront and frightened. I wanted to stop deisiking. I made up my mind to stop drinking. But I just could not keep oway from the botch.

'I went to a private choic but, although I got drind out, thit didn't stally do any good. Then and slowly I began to under-Xiseyre bes loriouls basis

Alcoholics Anonymous, I began to realise, was my only hope. And at first I availed going to meetings in my own area because I was terrified of bunging into any of my pasients. What would they think if they knew their doctor was a drunk?

'Now, at last, I've got my priorities right. I'm an alcoholie ... a human being a doctor. In that order. Just before I moved to this new job I was at an AA morting at a council estate right near the centre of my proceize. And I didn't give a down if any patients met no. there. Maybe it would help them to realise that the doctor ian't God - and many of us have liked to pluy that role in our time - and that could help there with their own drinking problems."

This doctor's wife, who was associating the family meeting, confirmed that she - like the wises of many other drinking doctors - went to great lengths to keep his alcoholium a arcret: as I could on to other people -"As far as I was concorned, he was a drunk and a no-good. Bos I did all I could to protect his repotation - not for his dity, and her constant uniping, take, for I had no forings left that was driving me to-drive, for him, but for my own this and that of our children."

She added: 'I lied and made excuses for him when he was I wouldn't even have looked at too drunk to see patients - or when he had disappeared on nome bender - and I often had to discreetly tak a friend in London to come down to take his surgery.

These meetings saved him. In fact, they aswed us both."

Dr R is a 46-year-old psychiautist in the South of England, with two teenaged children, who was 'invited to insie' a group practice in 1972 because of his alcoholism.

"I can't blame my old partners because I wasn't just useless - 1 was positively dangrous," he said. "I could remember leaving my house in the morning and I could often remember later leaving the surgrey but I had terrible blanks about ubias I might have said or done during surgery.

In the locked is house fields I' until I was 21 - becouse I carse from a strictly testotal family but, almost from the first few tips, I started deisking abohelicelly. I Matked out that first. night and those black outs were to become a regular feature of my hite.

'I had a terrible fear, an obactaive leas, of being a failure. So I told repart I needed to drink to case eway that fear.

13 Everybody likes a drink.

And then I had the fear that the drick was belong to turn me into a failure - which it certurn's was - and 2 needed more to drown these fears. It was a votings pepte.

'My personality through drastic changes. There was no longer any logic in my actions. I'd go into an ironmongory shop, for instance, to buy a phir of screws which I needed and finish up buying correction wildly expensive like a water pump for which I had no possible use. That sounds a uily example but it's one that uprings readily to mind and it scores to sure up the graziness. of my attitude to everything, including my work.

'My feeling of galit, at times, was so big that I didn't men how I could possibly carry it. So I did what so many alcoholies do. I shifted as much of it. particularly as to my wife, I decided that she was a fligid bitch and that it was her frigh-

"So 3 had to get my own hack on her. That was why I started bodding the most guild women if I'd been suns. And I was doing the same, whenever I had the chance, with nurses at the hospital. And when I got home I'd often deliberately thomp my car into her's on the drive. That would teach her to get at me! Then I'd munage to get indours and collapse on the floor. And often I'd wuke up about four in the merning and somehow get up the stairs to fall fully-dressed into bed.

"My medical knowledge couldn't save me from myself. When I first made contact with this Doctors' Group I was out of work. No-one was interested is employing sist - and, looking back, I can't say I blame them. But new, thank God, through the friends I've met here and in Algoholics Anonymous I'm working property again. I don't disk. And, no matter how many impressive statistics get burdled around in the profession, I know that I can never return to so-called social drinkang #mot if I don't want to go right down into the putter.

'I am an alcoholic, I will always he nee, And I hope that eventually I will die a sober abcoholia, Dr M, another of the Group's founder members, stresses the danger of regarding dramatic case-histories of that nature as a criterion for anyone wondering if he or she hus a trinking problem.

'Different people have different nock-bottoms," he says. Out person may crash all the way down before realizing, if he ever realises, that he needs help. Another may have a far higher rock-bottom - and reach out for help before penishing hiesself any more."

Alcoholic doctors, during their drinking days, are often vulnerable to appalling sensations of loneliness. One after another bas entered the Group and, with relief, has used almost the same words: 'Thank God -I thought I was the only slopthe doctor in the country!

hidd't been for them, I probably would not be alive today and I most perssinly woold not he working."

Today, accord with the lestons he has learned in the Dootors' Group, he is highly active IAA.N.

'And I can still hardly credit hew different Me can be," he sold. "You know the sort of things I remember? I remember rushing from the surgery in a panie between I was out of drink and counting the exact money into my hand before I went in an that I could being it down on the counter - hoping that the woman sorving me woulds't notice that how much my hands were shaking. I remember what I would to call the 3 am tobunals - when I'd wake up swesting and slovering and stark horting around for that bottle to save me from myself.

"I remember first going to AA meetings with a couple of miniatures in my pocket to keep me poing - and a half-bot-He out in the car for me to drink as 2 drove bome alient the mintorway.

"I wan a miserable finle bastard and I was in a hopeless

He managed to keep working by 'balencing his drinks', By 'top ping up to ward off the tremore.

Dr D, a 61-year-old GP in the North East, was typical of those who used that phrase. He told me: 'T'd tried AA. T'd tried just about the lot, But I was too ducted arregant to lates to asything I was told - until I came here. And for the first time I realised that I was with a banch of doctors who kniw a hell of a lot more about hoose than I did - and who had suffered just as reach from it. If I Nobody likes a drunk.

mens. I couldn't live with drink and I couldn't live without it. But I was a doctor, you see, and people respected me so 1 had to keep up this pretence of being normal. Normall God, how I was fooling myself. Most of them knew I was a drunk.

'And the frightening thing is that there are still so many dootors today who are exactly as I used to be. They are secondly disputed with themselves, many of them, but they are too proud to admit needing help."

But how is a doctor to know when he does need help? What, indeed, is an alcoholic?

Dr M anyn 'The alcoholie is one who has lost control over alcohol for life. The essential part of the scovery is some form of group therapy such as is found in AA, which has to be matained through life. The doctor who is incluted is on dangenous ground."

He and other members of the group do not feel that the monthly meetings above are

ALCOHOLISM

- enough for the recovering alcoholie. That is why new members are encouraged to jois AA. enough for the recovering alcohold. That is why new members are ansouraged to Join AA.

The group is also convinced. that total abstinence, including abstinance from mood-changing drugs, is this only path to successful secovary. They feel that drugs are of value only in the initial drying-out stage and that experiments in 'controlled drinking' offer no lasting solesion.

Links have now been forgod with "International Doctors in AA' and many British members have visited American conventions.

Dr M mills up! 'I am par-Scularly pleased that PULSE is devoting this space to the sptentions of the group because this may will help more alcoho-He disctors much out for hals."

Other Doctors' Groups have now been formed in the Month Hast and in Hire and it is heped. to launch one in the West country in the near future.

Contact ean be made through: The Medical Council on Alphheism, J Grosvenor Crespent, London SW1X (Tal: 00-233 41285

FORUM

PULSE, SEPTEMBER 9, 1978

When the drinking had to stop

A recovered alcoholic GP recounts the friendship which helped his problem.

WOKE up sweeting and shaking with a fooling of nauces. I knew what I had to do. I reached into the bedside unbinet for the bottle of whisky and the bottle of while which I hoped I had put there the eight hefore. I could not ramamber ... Ged, I must have goos to bad early to have let my bloodalcohol get this low.

With trembling hands I slopped whicky into a glass and added milk, I pagged up the first mouthful but managed to swallow with a shuddet. Dely this way could I steady my hands enough to sign my name and write prescriptions. Only mixed with mills would my stomuch retain the spirit at this hour in the morning. I looked at the milk, tinged brown with whicky; I full desperately lonely and afraid. I was sure that I was the only doctor who had to drink like this in order to funetion

After I had drunk about a quarter of the boule 1 began to practice my signature . . . perhaps one more drink would be enough.

I drove carefully to my surgary. Somehow I got through it, did my whits and with relief arrived at the pub on my way home. Three or four doubles and I arrived home for a late Innich.

more drinks at home before evening surgery. I wasn't drunk but I wasn't sober. I took the evening surgery and went back to the pub. Late for dinner, my wife was angey the always. was. I drank again after dinner, and realised that I could not go on like this. I must stop drinking again but I could not do it ,and I made contact that night. alone. I arranged a locum and my ews admission to hospital. To go back; I first drank heavily during my National Service in the RAF. It was at this time that I first had the 'shakes'. Later, in general practice as a junior partner, my drinking got out of control and I had a withdrawal fit.

These followed periods of depness and periods of 'controlled drinking'. Once I contacted Alcoholics Anonymous and stopped drinking for four years. But at this time I refused to go to their meetings; I was too proud; too arrogant and I "had learned working."

Inevitably I drank again, my AA contact had moved away and anyway I thought I was owned. It took just three months from the first drink to hospital.

Later I became adduted to quinal barbitune though dry of alcohol, and had deluium tramens on deliberate withdrawal from this drug.

Once searce I tried alcohol An hour's sleep and a few with the result described above.

This time I was in a London teaching hospital and a young neychiatrist finally personded me that I stight be an alcoholis, an AA proup but just a group He told me that there was a group of doctors, reservined or recovering alcoholics who mat unce a month.

He gave me a number to ring

The east day I had an unexpected visitor. This was a member of the Doctor's Group as I now know it and I shall call him John.

He told mu his drinking story and of his interest in sport and that he was a GP. Incredibly he was telling the story of my own interests and my own struggles with alcohol. John told me that he was a member of Alcoholica Anonymous and that he west to three or four AA meetings a wyek. 'Would I go to a meeting with him the following night?, be asked.

I was so impressed that I agrend and next night I went to a London meeting with him. I was introduced to many smiling. well dressed, cleas, sober and charming people. I could scarcely believe that they wave all alcoholics. I felt that I had some home and that these people were real friends.

I began to attend AA motiings regularly and I learned that. alooholism is a disease and that.

andative and hypnotic addiction is part of the same disease.

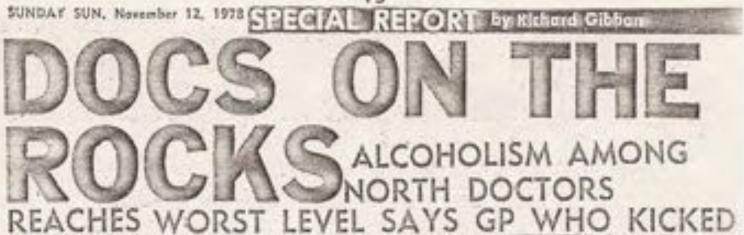

The Doctor's Group is not of doctors with as alsohol problem who distants problems related to alcohal and their profemior. Members meet at 6.50 pen in a London hotel on the last Saturday of every month. Newcomers are always welcome and the hall porter will always direct them.

It is now nearly four years since I had a drink and although I will never be cured. of alcoholism, my disease in how liew mu I has botterra hanne

Many people have helped in my recovery. I own a great dube to my wile who stood by me in the dark days and who supports me now so strongly. I have an excellent relationship with my sons, I enjoy my work and my galden and I play squash regularly again.

f am groteful to John and all the members of the Dector's Greep and of AA who have helped me and knowing that wherever I go I will have the followship of Algohalics Approyances.

The Burtors' Group your In one mental shrough: The Medical Georet' an Alestolius, J Graness Desen. Louise DWLE (Tot-RI-212 4182).

15

DOCTORS who drink two large bottles of whisky a day ... consultants who sip out of top-level meetlogs to secretly swig at a hip flask . . . G.P.s who are a danger to their patients because they are too drunk to do their jeb

This is the nightnare world for incodeds of the North's modical mon.

"The problem has never here woner than it is also," warve the Medical Council on Alecholism.

"Yet, traplenily, only a they promotion of destars arrundly seek help for their addiction," mit Ann Rawins, research arguinter for the SICA.

"Musit joint rotune to posse to reco with the fail. Ent are Revenue. auguster time."

The extent of decident shous in the North-East and Casters is now as had that a special soli-hole group has been isubshed electoric.

ber execute. Dentry month, people from the monitor predesion - statisting doublet - most in Newmoto et Causty Datase for therapy irusion. It is the only group of its kind entries Landes - but only is poold manify ture to for "revaluent."

"No many more should, but don't' gild the Dipaseoid Dirition dorber - a former alcoholic himself -- who argument

Do proup exce monthlats. The deletion, who will provide the bia added out to be named, but it is no scored that he was show the p becomes alreading. Mony of his intendis and association know this.

"I starting of the glob disking several proof to glob disking several proof ago and 1 know I sould astrop touch a dreb actain. "Det Try backy, I restant hore not handrods of other devices and deutida in the region with a typy serious problem.

"Slary state are so their way to becoming allochulity - iz goes with the job.

"Defortunately, excuses him first everywhellow and 3 hours hang hours' are used an justifications for defoning." The fortun, who is not martial, area defoning gree hand to hand with the role of the modical profession.

"Three are monthings, escaling functions, proberings and require-ments to work late at which, 275 considered possibly promptates to "Three are Ridna.

"On top of this, there's an awful relactation among distory to admit in their own sin. Many modical men. networ in along the nots, notices to ascept the symptomic of their even alresholiots.

"A Surflow drawback is that "A Surflow drawback is that rollengents cover up for their inefficiency at work when drink his wrechted tham. Wieres too often tril stories to dispute the shust problems of chark kustereds. "Then, of course, must destors an allied to drink. Some yound a ferture-store than 200-owek challs.

chille

"I lense mere the drink two bettles of uptills a day, even more, A popular habit is to ber half bettles in these are dut and tax serilly be estenated in potent."

Every other mosth, the North-Every ather most, the North-Every and instance in factors to play in the therapy.

"But we only atteast a very small percentage of those who unperfit read treatment. I with name would come forward for help," sold the doctor.

help," sold the doctor. "Binny are straid to sdarb their problem berause of what they do. We wan assist them and also get them in touch with Abothelian Anonymous for Eurlier help."

Anterpresents for Earliere Solp." The doctory added that mothers reader werey landar is doctors combinings drama with draw. They are easily appliable and day, also not as a minimum. "Them I was booked on drain. I also here yutane and Liberture is easin the doctor-sequenced in the the morphics when I had the doctor.

distant.

"Of course I ermandscrud hills or nothing about the ninki badore botware al my blash-outs

"Some Conters and depties even the ambletamics is pro-them a lift, untille tates in the day, aller a heavy drithing slay is pendon,

"And of mores, they often drink and drive which muchs them ar oblight tigh. Successe they work odd hours, they have to use rears, show without the stantost report for the huge messaries of drink they have possesared.

"There as no doubt shout has the problem of abrohumian is new more series thus ever." Its added: "I can period of what debits can do to a discus, I haven't death for hour proce lost if I ever do I just ren't generates my bahaviour 44 mil

Pieture specially posed for photographer Paul Dodde.

"I still have to pa to thereasy possible three times a work."

Fostister Aug derive at duning with a delaking provides diversa tentiert the Malishal Court of an Archaelon at Mrs Hearn, Elling, Piece, Newmitte apon Tree. NET SIDE

MEDICAL NEWS, Asril 29, 1925 WHEN A DOCTOR H

ry Dr. Viyion Chee

HEDICAL JEWS April 29, 1976.

THE majority of doctors, like the general public, arose little about alepholiam. They still believe that the typical alcoholie is a vagr-ant to be found "falling about the streets."

But this is the stereotype of only two per cent of alcoholics, say two members of a group of recovering slepholic doctors who meet monthly in London.

This kind of attitude cautes many doctors to express only disbelief when colleague admits to a drink problem say the two ausenbers, for the majority of alcoholics behave normal by 90 per cent of the tiree,

And they add that doctors, both alcoholic and non-al-pholie should recogsize that there is a drinking problem as soon as there is a craving for drink and the accurrence of blackpate (periods of amersia) and getting drank when it was words, "When there is as inability in guarantee the consequences of picking up a drink."

In the three and half years since the group began with two mombers, about 109 doctors have contacted the group and some travel long distincts to attend.

The sumber attending each meeting is growing steadily, but at the moment averages around 25-30. This number is made up largely of privaral practitioners, a hundful of hospital consultants, several jusior hospital doctors, and doctors from the arrowd Jorces. Several of the GP members also hold part-time posts as police surgeons, which can be hoxardous as most of the police surgeon's work is carried out at night when the drink problem is greatbolt.

Around six to seven of the regular attenders are women, most of where, internatingly enough, are not GPs. They tend to be either sospital clinicians or research workers, and most are matried to doctors.

The age of first attendance is usually 65-55, but the youngest member is only about 30. Most who have joined the group have started their drinking prob-Ises 5-10 years previously.

DRINKING PROBL Hussover, sleobolism assong medical students is not LITEROWN.

There have been several tragedies amongst members of the group. Three have attempted saicide and one was successful, while sev-eral others have died early of diseases associated with alcohol.

No actual figures 2.00 known but the feeling is that a good number also minute drogs while drinking.

On the whole, the vast majority still have their jobs and have kept their families interct. As far as the two manthers know, only our has been suspended by the General Medical Council hot has since been reinstated.

It has been said that doctory, instead of pushing alcoholic colleagues to seek treationed bend to cover up for them. This is also the impression of the two members who feel that this hoppens to a greater extent In poloitan.

In general practice, coverleg up may take place initially, particularly when the alcoholic colleague is only intermittently distant. cloud with the practice as a locum. But when the alcoholic is closely associated with the practice, there is eventually pressure by the partners for him to neek troatment or realga.

In the very few cases of GPs who have lost their practices, this has been Chrough the . partners' requests for them to relign. Most of these have, however, been re-established in practice. Wives, secretaries and receptionists, also tend to be exceptionally logal. Treatment is they not stught till late complications like cirrhosis, poscreatitis DOD'UP.

The pattern seems to be that it is the younger ones who "get into trouble." The elder. ones who have gamily and a successful practice usually manage to continue with their work, Mombers of the alcoholie doctors group are recruited by one of several means. + Personal contact is new Alcoholicz Anonymous cooperates and the Medical on Alsoholism Courell cairies a notice of the group in their quarterly journal.

Consultants treating alcoholics have come to learn of the group and put patients in touch with it. Epsier.

16

In other instances, the group acts as an information centre chanelling newcomera to suitable alcoholic recovery units and encour-aging them to join AA. Not anexpectedly, many doctors find it easier to approach the medical group. Tritially,

But, said one of the two members, "The alcoholic in one who has lost control over alcohol for life. The essential part of the spoosery is some form of group therapy such as in found in AA, which has to be sustained through Me. The doctor who is sint-tod is on dangerour grounda."

The group does not feel that its monthly mostly along an sufficient for the recovering alcoholic and Petro la encourage. DOW members to join A.A. Most still continue to attend AA even ofter 10-30 years unbriety. AA's experience is that recovery from here to a relapses is at best difficult and often fatal.

As the group sees it, it exists to encourage doctors to neek help earlier and give support to each other.

Free discussion takes place throughout the meeting, and algoholism is not discussed much from a scientific point of view. Instead discussion revolves around members' social and emotional processa.

However, on occasion people with a particular interest is alcoholtum or its treatment are invited to attend as participants, though not as formal leedations.

The doctors group are convinced that total abuinence (which includes abadaence from mood changing drugs as welly is the delumonus of successful recovery. They Jeel that drives are of value only in the initial drying out stage and are convinced that controlled drinking experiments do not work.

They also believe that acceptance of total abstiserce, which they say in different from passive resignation, while to be accord panied by fundamental charges of attitudes. Thus there about he an abounce of sell-pity, the elimination of reserversent and the avoidution of huger.

The group is in touch.

tarit h in AA" a group founded in 1949, and fast month ten of them wind to the US to attend a three day convention.

Acctineator

About 350 recovering alenholic doctors attended the convention. A point anode by one of the directors of a US alcoholic wait was that doctors being treated should spend the maximum lims (about three mouths) in heapital since they are a difficult group to treat.

It is company known that not only do they as aborholics underrate the sevority of the illness Le ibamaters, but they find it, difficult to accept the. patient role and tend to distharps themselves early.

One of the two members. of the UK group who apolos to Medical News was one of the tra who attended the convention.

He himself had had the three months in an slopholic unit seventeen years ago and his cave case history typifies "the reluctance of doctors to seek treatment. Despite constant pressure by his family, he kept putting off consulting a psychiatrise.

He finally got evend to steing a psychiatrist friend, and ended up being admitted to hospital, not as a cold cuse, but " flat on my back." because he get the DTs in the train on his way to keep his appointment.

Families of alcoholic potients are obviously under stress, and one survey in the US puts it that 25 per cent of the alcoholics' partners see on drink and/or drugs.

The success of Alastes (th:: group for vities of AA members) indicates how much they deel the need for scene kind of support, and the doctors group in London started family group resetings this year, which will be held at quarterly fetervals issilally.

Other longer term sizes are the formation of regional branches and bolding international meetings.

In the meantime, any doctor with a drividing problem, who no withes can be put in touch with the group by writing to the Modical Council an Alcoholiser, 8. Boundren Street, Leador WIX 90Y, Ex-spiries will be deals with in the strippest confidence.

DOCTORS whose work and family life have been badly affected by their drinking cas, kick their dependence and recover soleiety through the support of colleagues.

Suicide, other forms of premature death, and wrecked social and professional lives. can await the alcoholic doctor. And doctors are three and a half times more likely than the general population to become alcoholic. But at least 65 per cent of the members of a medical support group for alcoholic doctors are alive and well, working and sober. And the two chairmen of the Britith Doctors Group, themacives recovering alcoholics, rankle at the suggestion that the prognouia is had for potential members of their organisation.

They salenit that alcoholic doctors are adept in the game of deception, refusing to believe that they are 4I, and attempting to hide their drinking habits from family, friesds and colleagues.

And other doctors offen collude in the occeit. Indeed when one of the BDG chairmen approached a psychiatrist, for help, the psychiatrist, merely suggested that he pretended to have a physical illness to provide a screen for his alcohofism.

Embarrassment

"Other dectors are the worstthey are horsible," said the charman. Embarrassed, they watch their drinking colleague despriorate. When the crunch centers – a service committee or GMC hearing pethaps, or a marriage breakdown – they turn away, believing the victim? brought his ills on historil. Relatively sober, social deinkers find a difficult to undepend that an alcoholic cannot control his drinking. Friends of recovering alcoholics are usually sympathetic. 'They are pleased to see that you are better.' But on one occasion a BDG chairman had to tell an insistent honese. 'What you are trying to make nee do put me in a mental hospital three times during my life.'

17

The marriages of many alcoholic doctors have already broken up by the time the doctor approaches the BDG. But the group boasts several reconcilitations after the member has regained his sobsity through the belp of the group. And a member's sposse has sometimes been the alcoholic doctor's first contact with the group.

The group holds meetings in London, Durham, Dublin and Bratol one Saturday evening each month. The drinking doctors find reliaf by sharing their problems during the meeting, and some members travel a long way to attend.

Spouses and families of the alcoholics meet at the same time in their own group. They too have problems to share. The decen of sloubelies is visited on their spouses, who have to lie and over up for the drinking doctors.

Most of the BDG's members are men. But women and younger doctors are beginning to join. A 24 year old doctor recently joined and found help from a 28 year old member.

The BDG is not formally associated with the Alzoholics Anonymous fellowship. But the chairmen have regular contact with AA headquarten

The estimated 2000 alcoholic British doctors may find help in a medical support group. Judith Charles reports and are keen members of AA themselves.

A doctor was a co-founder of AA in 1935. And the British Doctors Group encourages its members to join if they wish. The BDG meets only once a month. AA holds many more meetings, more than 200 a week in London alone.

Abstinence

Both organisations counsel total abstinence. "We have done our controlled experiments and they don't work," said one of the BDG chairmen. They say that an alcoholic is never overal. He is always 'recovering'.

And mood changing drugs do not help either. They are another form of harmful dependence which is difficult to give up. The chairmen quoted a recovering alcoholic doctor who now turns a treatment centre for alcoholics in America: 'Alcoholism is not a Valium deficiency disease,' The doctor would have liked to see this notice displayed in neon lights over the door of every alcohol treatment centre.

Disulfarm or calcium carbiolde can deter the impulsive dorsker, and muy help for a while, say the chairmen. 'It stops the impulsive drink because you have to wait two days before it is out of your system.'

Dr Max Glatt, a leading expert in drug addiction and a close triand of the BDG, estiruates that roughly 2000 British doctors are alcoholics. The BDG has 200 of them in membership and is always looking for more.

The group's sesponse to an alcoholic doctor or mamber of his family is always syneputictic. 'We don't judge. We are recovering alcoholics oursolves.'

In America alcoholic doctors are often more open about their illness. But while alcoholism is heavily stigmutised in Britain, members of the BDG useally maintain their arrenymity, at least in the early stages of recovery.

One of the chairmen his close contacts with one of the largest alcoholics' treatment centres in the country. He is told of any doctor in the wards, and goes to visit.

The BDG simi to help the doctor rebuild his life as well as to stop drinking. The recovering alcoholic mean repair work and family relationships damaged by drink. 'Any one who comes to a doctor's group meeting will find a bunch of cheerful, huppy people.'

An initial spell in a treatment centre is recommended by the group. 'Eight weeks in nothing when you consider you have a life in front of you. If you break your leg you expect that, But some of them want to be better in a week.'

The British Doctors Group can be contacted at The Medical Council on Alcoholam, 3 Grossener Creacest, London, SW1X. Telephane 01-235 4182.

The BDG is holding in fourth annual meeting this weekend (November 2, 3 and 4) British Joannal an Alcohol and Alcoholism 12, 2

18

The British Doctors Group: Visit to the USA and other Events

The British Doctors Group was formed in 1973 with the object of encouraging the alcoholic doctor to seek helpand to maintain his recovery by contact with the group. Since then some 120 contacts have been made and monthly meetings of the group have been held in London. In 1975 10 members of the group went to the USA to visit alcoholic units and to attend the annual convention for recovering alcoholic doctors in New Jersey. The following is an account of the visit.

Visit to USA

We boarded a Jumbo Jet st Heathens Airport and some fivehours later landed at Kennedy Air-

Doctor in AA

I want to forget the fact that I was a doctor who had a drivking problem. You see, that was how I used to see it. Today I hope I have my priorities right. I now know, and never want to forget, that I are an alcoholic who happens to be a doctor. Now I try to do what I are told, rather than tell other prople what they should do.

A reasonably soccessful academic career had not exactly deflated my ego. I was irrationally convinced that I was above average antiligence and education. My professional career sensed to enhance this conviction, on the surface I was a soccess—and a continuing one. The emburranment of black-outs with their progression to frightful

The emburrhament of black-outs with their progression to frightful sequefier of quite unpredictable behaviour had not dented my arrogeneze. Pain, tears and trauma on the domestic front had produced removie and publics provises of reform—but no definitent. I continued to confine intellectual maturity with erectional maturity.

When inexplicable phobias and fenes eventually doose me to seek psychiatric help, my intellectual amogasce was undiminished. Interviews with psychiatrists—and there were to be many—invariably started with the observation or commune, "As an intelligent man, you ..., "---and I always concerned.

Psychotherapy, hyprosis, chemotherapy, drugs-prescribed and adfprescribed-abutsume-all were to follow over a decade, and all were of no root. Witbost any dealers as any deinking, constant with Act entry memod to executivate my ego. People talked of alcoholism as a disease: very well, then, let's have a selectific, academic approach. As a physician, souly I report was more compittent to deal with a disease than a banch of "laymen".

Then cause my rock bottom, a deep, deep, black despair, the like of which I had never known. I knew I couldn't drink, and I knew I couldn't "just not drink". I had tried that, and the pain of dryness was worse by far than the pain of drankenness. I crawled to AA, looking and hoping desperately for the answer. I knew that I would have to justine every scrap of so-called knowledge that I proversed. It had all proved to be but a hundricap and obstacle to me.

Gone was every sheed of arregarce—I had no pride. I new really and truly found myself with an open mind—ready to do everything that was asked. I was prepared to go to any kngthe—and I knew that no human power would relieve my alcoholism. My ego was totally deflated at last.

Last year I attended the First International Medical Conference en Alcoholour over held in the U.K. at the Royal College of Physicians. The dauger of intellectual arrogance in a doctor was talked about. An eradite and witty American psychiatrist, prominent in the field of alcoholiam, reguled the audience with a story which went structhing like this:

The fate Pope John was universally recognised as, and acknowledged to be, a very humble man. On his death he dealy arrived at the Gotes of Heaven where he was greeted by St. Peter, "Ten afraid you will have to walk a while", said St. Peter, "You see, the Master is not have at the events", "Ob, that's all right", replied the very humble John, "I deat's mind waiting!" Noticing a collee bar, John empired if he might have a eup. "Certainly", replied St. Peter, "but you have to join the spece. You may have been Pope on earth, but we are all equal in heaven. No special privileges here?" Shortly sherwards, the Gates flew open, and in dashed a beenry figure, stellarscope dampling from his neck. The bright young man strode sourcity to the coffee bar and poured himself a cop, then scrutialized the walting throug with a detached but tolerant gate. "What's all this?" asked John of Peter, "I thought you said we were all equal in heaven!" "So we are, so we are," replied Peter, "but you see, that's God. Every now and then he likes to play Dotter".

And that, reversed, was the story of my life.

S. H. (London)

port, New York,

While in New York we visited Smithers Alcoholton Center Reliabiliturios Unit where, after an introductory talk by C. Claire Binell, Medical Director, the day to day work of the Unit was observed. 44 male and female potients can be accommodated in the Rehabilitation Unit-a modernised mansion-which offers the alcoholic 'an experience in getting to know himself, communicating with others and learning about the disease, alcoholism', Intensise individual counsulling, testing, group therapy and teaching are the major activities. A counselling service is also provided for those involved with the patient (family, friends, employer, etc.). A stuff of 40, which includes recovered alcoholics and non-alcoholics, keep the unit operating 24 hours a day and the treatment peogratome is based on a minimum stay of 28 days. We were very impressed with the high standards of the Southers Institute, and with the mults achieved.

Another half day was spent at Little Hill-Alina Lodge, Blairstenen, New Jersey, which is a rehabilitation unit offering 'a comfortable country home atmosphere' for alcoholics. We were welcorsed by Mrs. Geraldise O. Dalosey, the Executive Director, who is herself a recovered alcoholic and has had much experience in treating difficult cases (many of them doctors). The minimum stay is six weeks for sleeholics and 12 weeks for cross addiction to alcohol and other 'mood changers'. All the residents attend educational sessions designed for the family and they learn to live without alcohol and/or 'mood changers'. The regular schedule includes three daily educational sessions on alcoholism, reading, discussion and occupational therapy. Alive Lodge is beautifully situated in the New Jersey countryside and the combination of firsh air, first-class accommedation, good food and regular rest gives the 'students' a splendid opportunity in begin a life of contented sobriety.

The third and feal schabilitation centre which we visited was Mousery House, Stirling, New Jersey, ran by Charles K. Betts (Executive Director), and his staff. This is a spacicus private house 'in which the problem drinker can begin a programme of recovery and discover a method by which a normal existence can be achieved without the use of alcohof'. We sat in with students on a routine locture given by Mr. Betts and were very impressed with this and the rest of the programme. The motio of Honesty House is 'Would that I could remove your burden. I can but show you how' and we were presented with medallions with that morription.

We then moved on to the lavarious Governor Morris Inn (Hotel) in Morristown, New Jersey, where the Convention was held. The theme of the Convention was 'Living Soher' and 250 'alcoholic' doctors attending were enthusiastically engaged in a first class programme. The Convention started on a Thursday evening with a lively discussion directed by the New Jersey Doctors Medical Group Meeting, and ended on the following Sunday morning with a number of four-minute contributions on the theme 'how the spiritual side of the programme works for rae'. In between these were meetingsof Alanon, introduction of new members, splendid banquets and very intensive treatment of crucial topics by several speakers. The subjects included the pharmacology of alcoholiste, maintaining sobrietythe first two years (several speakers), how English doctors stay sober, the disabled doctor, treating alcoholic doctors, alcoholism is modical atudents, sex and alcohol, and living sober. High standards of presentation and a good level of discussion ensured a very successful and worthwhile moving.

Our final day was spent at the horne of Bill Daniels MD, the energetic organiser of the visit and of the Convention together with his charming English-been wife. Feilowing afternoon ten the Daniels down us to Kennedy Airport for the return journey.

We felt that the visit was an enormous success and we hope that the licitish Doctors Group with members from all parts of the UK will be able to insite our American friends to England to attend a licitish Medical Convention. This would give the Group an opportunity, to ropay the warm hospitality, instruction and valuable exchange of ideas enjoyed during our visit. Other Events

Since this account was written we are happy to report that the first weekend conference was held in November 1976 in England with an attendance of 50. In addition a regional group has been established in North-cast England and regular resetings are held in Galway, Err.

A further visit to the USA was organised at the end of March and 17 members took part.

In the four years of the existence of the litible Doctors Group we have found that these doctors which have accepted adequate treatment have done very well and with very few exceptions, all are fully employed again in their professional carootty. It is our experience that alcoholism is a treatable condition with a high recovery rate. In all cases total abstimence without the use of moot changing drugs has been the fundamental requirement in recovery.

Any doctor or dental surgeon with a drinking problem may contact a number of the group through Thu Executive Director of the Medicol Council on Alcoholism. Such enquiries will be treated in the strictest confidence. M.K. and P.M. Members.

British Doctors Group.

Since the above article was written, more than fifty members of the British Doctors Group have attended the North New Jersey Conventions in 1977, 1975 and 1979.

Groups also attended the World Alcoholics Anonymous Convention in New Orleans in 1980 and the Southern Doctors Convention in San Antonio Texas in 1981. In San Antonio we were the guests of Dr. Eugene Sonle, Medical Director of the Starlight Clinic and Treatment Center for alcoholics and drug addicts. Dr.Seale is himself a recovering alcoholic.

In September 1981 the British Doctors Group was asked to organise an international panel of recovering alcoholic doctors at the Jerusales International Conference on Alcoholism and Drug Addiction. The subject discussed was 'The Recovering Physician'.

continued from page 9.

enisoring doctors can be motisured to present themselves for treatment.

Out of the general population in England and Wies, roughly one to two per cest may be also holics; and if the rate of clocholism in doctors. — as suggested by the circhosis morusing rates — are at least three and a holi times that of the general population, at a gurss, the number of alcoholic doctors seems likely to be over 2,000. Considering that the RCPsych Working Party (see Alzohol and Adcoholism. Lendon: Tavistock Publications, 1979) recently considered the equivalean of four pints or four 'doubles' as the upper level for 'safe' duly dricking (for the number of doctors drinking much more than is good for them is likely to be very high.

However, there are signathat the knowledge of alcoholism as a high risk for doctors has been getting through — if our own experiences in the teaching of students at four London medical schools over the part decade can be taken as a pointer.

As regards provention, better 'target-orientated' education --- for example, the traching of medical students about the turity stages of problem drinking and the high vulgerability of destres --- N.K.

should soon begin is bear live. Certainly doctors — as shown by the membership of the 'British Ductors' Group' are by no means immune from this insidioen and dangarous illness. And the quicket the medical profession realises and acts on if, the better for its even members and for the whole community.

Dr Mas Glas it a considuri psychiatrise with a special intercer in alcoholicse.